Restorative Justice Facilitator Training

This three-day training event prepares schools and communities to respond to rising juvenile crime in the south suburbs.

Restorative Justice

- a proven method to promote community safety
- builds safe communities by holding youth accountable
- develops responsible behaviors
- restores and respects victims
- empowers communities to provide for the general welfare of its members.

Participants will learn how to use Restorative Justice methods in their professional lives and communities.

Saturday, November 7; Friday, November 13; and Saturday, November 14 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
